Richard Whitaker - m - Jennet

1370, of High Whitaker, Padiham, Lancashire, England

Richard and Jennet in an Indenture 3 March 1407-8, with remainder to Henry their son, with remainder in succession to Alice and Elen, sisters of Henry.

Richard Whitaker

1340, of High Whitaker, Padiham, Lancashire, England

"Richard son of Richard of Quetakyr to Alice daughter of Robert of Quetakyr for her life of the lands that they hold of the gift of Robert son of John of Symmondston, dated 23 Jun 1391... with remainder in succession to John and Thomas his sons and the heirs of Robert and Alice his wife, daughter of Robert of Whytacre." The father of Richard born about 1370 is unknown, but editors have placed him in this family.

Henry Whitaker

Birth 1310, of High Whitaker, Padiham, Lancashire, England

"This important inquisition records the descent of High Whitaker in the male line of Whitakers for six generations. But when we look at the earlier muniments we find that Richard Whitaker in 1408 had only one son, Henry, in default of whose issue the estate passed to his sisters. It was an earlier Richard, his grandfather, who had three sons--Henry, Richard, and Robert--and created the male entail about 1337."

"Richard son of John son of Richard son of Mathew of Whitaker releases to Richard son of John of Whitaker, Jennet his wife and John their son...or to Henry brother of John...or to Richard brother of John.

Richard Whitaker - m - Jennet

Birth 1280, of High Whitaker, Padiham, Lancashire, England

"Richard son of John son of Richard son of Mathew of Whitaker releases to Richard son of John of Whitaker, Jennet his wife and John their son... Henry brother of John...or to Richard brother of John...all his right in all the lands & tenements, with the buildings on the same, which he held in the hamlet of Whitaker in the vill & territory of Padiham; together with the reversion of the dower held by Agnes formerly wife of Richard son of Mathew. Dated at Whitaker, 23 November 1317."

Pg 104 states: Richard son of John, who thus obtained the property, had not as yet succeeded to his father's lands; but he already had a wife, Jennet, and three sons. The eldest son, John, apparently died young; for he is not again mentioned and his brother (Henry) is the heir as recorded in the pedigree, where other brothers, Richard and Robert, are named. It would seem that Robert was not born until after the date of this release (1317), but part of the land concerned was settled upon him in 1337."

John de Whitaker - m - Miss Pedham

Birth 1254, of High Whitaker, Padiham, Lancashire, England

Death April 1323

"Henry de Lasey, Earl of Lincoln & Constable of Chester, confirms to John son of Richard of Whitaker nine acres of land in Padiham, which Richard had by grant from Edmund de Lasey; at a yearly rent for the 9 acres & for 20 acres which Gilbert of Whitaker, grandfather of John, had of the feoffment of John de Lasey, of 20s at the feast of S Giles. Ightenhill, 12 March 1273-4. "Pg 103 states: "Before the death of Henry de Lascy, John of Whitaker had obtained a further 15 acres at that rent and in 1311 held 44 acres, for which he paid 25s yearly. In that year also he was returned as a free tenant in Burnley, where he held 8 acres of land at a rent of 4s. John of Whitaker died in 1323-4, and in the accounts for that year there is an entry of 25s--a year's rent--received as the relief of Richard of Whitaker for the tenements that were of John his father in Whitaker."

Burke's Landed Gentry lists John de Whitacre as attesting a charter relating to Symonstone, 10 Edward II, 1317. Burke states: "At Symonstone has long been seated a branch of the family of Whitaker, of High Whitaker, near Padiham."
